GN's statutory annual report on corporate governance for the financial year 2023, cf. section 107b of the Danish Financial Statements Act

About the report

This Corporate Governance Report is part of the management commentary of the 2023 Annual Report for GN Store Nord A/S ("GN") covering the period January 1 – December 31, 2023.

The Committee on Corporate Governance's website (<https://corporategovernance.dk/english>) lists the Committee's recommended best practices. As a company listed on Nasdaq Copenhagen, GN is required to report on its compliance with these recommendations according to the "comply or explain" principle. GN's compliance with the individual recommendations is set out on the following pages and is reviewed once a year by the Board.

The report includes:

- a description of the company's management structure
- a description of the main elements of GN's internal control and risk management systems relating to financial reporting
- a review of the company's approach to the applicable "Recommendations on Corporate Governance" from the Committee on Corporate Governance in Denmark

Corporate governance structure as of October 1, 2023

On September 4, 2023, GN announced that its Board of Directors had decided to execute the next step of integration and transition into a more streamlined one-company setup with one Group Chief Executive Officer and one Group Chief Financial Officer, simplifying the Group's governance structure. The changes to the Executive Management took effect from October 1, 2023.

Leadership structure and governing bodies

GN is governed by a two-tier management structure. The Board of Directors is responsible for the overall governance of the company and the Executive Management is responsible for the daily management of the company's affairs and the execution of the strategy under the guidelines and supervision of the Board.

GN's Board currently comprises seven members, of which four have been elected by the shareholders at the Annual General Meeting, and three by the employees in accordance with the Danish Companies Act. In accordance with GN's Articles of Association, the Board will be replenished at the next Annual General Meeting so that at least five members are elected by the shareholders.

The Executive Management currently consists of a Chief Executive Officer and a Chief Financial Officer. In connection with the "one-company" governance structure, the Group has established a new Executive Leadership Team reporting to the Group CEO and the Group CFO. The team members are responsible for the day-to-day operations of their respective areas and serve as part of the Group's overall leadership.

The composition and the competencies of the Board of Directors, the Executive Management, and the Executive Leadership Team are described on the company's website: www.gn.com/About/Management

GN's framework for corporate governance

The board members of GN are elected at GN's General Meeting. The Board of Directors has established Audit, Remuneration, Nomination and Strategy Committees, and appoints the members of the Executive Management. In addition, GN has established an Executive Leadership Team.

The ultimate authority rests with the shareholders at General Meetings. The Annual General Meeting is held each year in March. GN supports active ownership and provides a high level of information to, and dialogue with, its shareholders before, during, and after the General Meeting which is also webcasted in English and Danish.

Shareholders who are unable to attend the meeting in person or are represented by proxy at the General Meeting have access to vote on each individual item on the agenda and raise questions to the management prior to or at the General Meeting.

The duties and responsibilities of the Board of Directors

Overall tasks and responsibilities

It is the overall responsibility of the Board of Directors to define the company's strategy and to review, discuss, and evaluate the company's performance which, among other, is done in light of the company's vision and purpose, and to ensure and promote a good culture and sound values in GN. More information is available in the management's commentary in the 2023 Annual Report.

GN's Rules of Procedure require that the Board at least once a year considers the following matters:

- The company's short-term and long-term strategy
- Corporate governance in the light of recent developments in Denmark and globally
- Compliance with legislation and regulations in Denmark and other countries in which GN operates
- The company's organization, risk management system, accounting function, IT organization, budgeting process, financial reporting, internal controls, currency hedging, capital resources, insurances and hedging of other assets

- Human resources, including employee and organizational development, working environment, diversity etc.

Moreover, the Board oversees compliance with the company's Sustainability/ESG policy.

The Board is committed to creating both short- and long-term value in the company, and continuously assesses the overall strategic direction of the company. Twice a year, the Board holds a two-day strategy meeting to discuss and follow-up on GN's strategy targets in order to ensure both short- and long-term value creation.

The Board annually reviews its guidelines for the division of duties between the Board and the Executive Management, including business procedures and instructions to the Executive Management, as well as guidelines for the division of duties among the members of the Executive Management and reporting from the Executive Management to the Board.

The composition, organization and evaluation of the Board of Directors

GN is a global company and to successfully develop and maintain this position in the marketplace, GN is dependent upon global expertise and experience at the Board level. GN, therefore, strives to recruit Board members with a diversified range of mutually complementary competencies.

The current Board is a diverse group in terms of global experience, functional competencies, and industry background which ensures that it can fulfil its obligations. The composition is a mix of members with executive positions and professional board members, providing a good balance between knowledge, competencies, experience, and availability for a substantial workload. The Board members possess global expertise within med-tech & healthcare, ESG, innovation, product development, IT, software, digital transformation, online marketing,

Board competencies and experiences

The ideal mix of competencies and experiences that should generally be represented on the Board include:

- Board experience
- Executive management experience
- Finance
- Digitalization
- Sustainability
- Software
- Marketing and brand
- Strategy and transformation
- Sectoral experience
- Technical innovation experience

commercialization, technology & professional services, finance, and change management.

The Board evaluates on an annual basis the composition, diversity and competencies of the Board as a whole - as well as each individual Board member's special competencies - to ensure the most optimal performance of the Board. As part of such evaluation, the Chair of the Board cooperates with each individual member to ensure that the members update and supplement their knowledge of relevant matters with a view to ensure that the members' special knowledge and qualifications are applied in the best possible manner.

The Board believes that diversity strengthens any governing body and at all management levels. The Board acknowledges the importance of diversity in general, including diversity of gender, nationality and educational/professional competencies, and the Board continuously discusses and reviews GN's diversity at management levels.

GN has adopted a Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion policy which applies to all Group companies.

Review GN's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion policy:
www.gn.com/diversitypolicy

The selection and nomination of candidates for the Board is described in GN's Rules of Procedure. It requires that the Board, on an annual basis, discusses and defines the competencies that should generally be represented on the Board.

The Board compares the competency and qualifications requirements and decides whether any Board members should be replaced, or whether the Board should be supplemented by new members, while also taking into account the need for continuity. In evaluating existing members and potential candidates, the Board takes into account whether, considering their principal occupation and other directorships, such members and candidates have the time required to adequately serve as member of GN's Board of Directors.

The Board of Directors' Independence

Currently, all four Board members elected at the Annual General Meeting are considered independent which is also stated for each of these independent members on GN's webpage and in the Annual Report.

None of the Board members are members of GN's executive management.

Board committees

As part of the overall governance of the company, the Board has established Audit, Nomination, Remuneration, and Strategy committees to assist with monitoring and preparatory work relating to key areas of the Board's responsibilities. The committees' main duties are described in the graphic to the right and the most significant activities performed in 2023 are summarized below:

Audit Committee

In 2023, the Audit Committee continued to provide oversight of the financial reporting process, the audit process, GN's system of internal controls, and compliance with laws and regulations. The committee reviewed the whistleblower reporting system, material legal cases, main accounting principles, tax strategy and compliance, risk management processes covering key risks, and monitoring of ESG targets and reporting thereon. Further, the committee considered the need for an internal audit function which was not deemed necessary at this time.

Remuneration Committee

In 2023, the Remuneration Committee supervised and reviewed the remuneration policy, salary, bonus, long-term incentive process and results, and assisted with the preparation of the Remuneration Report. The Committee also considered grants under GN's long term incentive program, talent development and succession planning process and results. Finally, the Committee reviewed remuneration, incentive plans, and severance packages for the Executive Management and the new Executive Leadership Team.

Nomination Committee

In 2023, the Nomination Committee focused on ensuring that Board and Executive Management composition and competencies continue to support GN sufficiently and in line with GN's strategy and purpose. This includes competencies in relation to GN's transformation to a one-company structure, extensive succession and recruitment processes to

Board Committees

As part of the overall governance of the company, the Board has formed four committees to assist with monitoring and preparatory work.

See charters and composition of the four committees:

Board of Directors

Audit Committee

Assists in relation to accounting and financial control systems, the integrity of the company's financial reports, monitoring ESG targets and reporting, and carries out assessments of the company's financial and business risks. The committee holds quarterly meetings with the participation of GN's external auditors and various subject matter experts within senior management and key functions

Remuneration Committee

Assists in monitoring aspects relating to the remuneration of the Board, the Executive Management and senior employees – and in ensuring that the company's remuneration policy is in line with the interests of the shareholders, and in preparing the remuneration report

Nomination Committee

Assists in recommending and nominating members to the Board of Directors for election at the General Meeting and appointing members of the Executive Management and nominating candidates to the Board Committees

Strategy Committee

Assists with exploratory research projects aiming at identifying potential new business opportunities leveraging GN's core knowledge and competencies outside of, but related to, GN's existing business areas adequately plan and prepare talent pipeline for Board and Executive Management positions, while ensuring good culture and sound values as an integral part of all nominations, appointments, and succession planning. The Committee also monitored Board performance and competencies and conducted a thorough Board assessment with external assistance. Finally, the current structure, size, and diversity of the Board have been reviewed and found to meet relevant governance requirements.

Strategy Committee

In 2023, the Strategy Committee oversaw a series of existing projects as well as new projects to explore technological innovations within the broader technology space. Further, the committee explored the further development of collaboration and synergies between GN's business entities and support functions.

Remuneration of the Board of Directors and Executive Management

Please refer to GN's 2023 Remuneration Report and Remuneration Policy for a description of the underlying principles and remuneration of GN's Board of Directors and Executive Management.

The Board of Directors' annual self-evaluation

Each year the Board conducts an annual self-evaluation of its work, efficiency, composition, and organization together with its strengths and development areas. In 2023, the Board involved external assistance for its annual self-evaluation to add a fresh perspective and potentially identify issues, which the Board might not otherwise realize. The Chair will account for the process and the general conclusions in his statement at the Annual General Meeting. Reference is made to the description of the Board's annual self-evaluation procedure and the general conclusions in the management commentary of the 2023 Annual Report and on the company's website: www.gn.com/boardevaluation2023.

The Board's evaluation of Executive Management

The Board of Directors assesses the work and results of the Executive Management on an ongoing basis as an integrated and natural part of their regular meetings.

In the beginning of each year, the Board establishes performance plans with specific KPIs for each member of the Executive Management, and the Board assesses the performance of the Executive Management and its execution of the agreed KPIs on an ongoing basis during the year.

The Board also evaluates on an ongoing basis the structure and composition of the Executive Management, including in respect to performance, diversity, succession planning, and risks, in light of the company's strategy.

The performance plans for the Executive Management for each calendar year are concluded by year-end. Also, once a year, the Chair and Deputy Chair of the Board, together with all members of the Executive Management, define the content and format of the monthly reporting which must be submitted to the Board.

The Board's cooperation with the Executive Management and the Executive Management's work and performance is also a recurring topic in the Board's formal annual evaluation procedure.

Interaction with shareholders, investors and other stakeholders

It is GN's investor relations and communication policy to have an open and active dialogue with the company's stakeholders, including its shareholders, other investors, and the media. GN strives to provide all stakeholders with timely and relevant information to ensure they have a fair impression of GN's business.

As part of GN's investor relations activities, an active dialogue is pursued with existing and potential shareholders as well as with financial analysts and other investors and stakeholders.

GN ensures that relevant information is provided to the financial community in a timely manner to ensure that the GN share is fairly priced. This is done in the form of company announcements, press releases, investor meetings, conferences and presentations of the company's interim and annual financial results.

Following the release of interim and annual financial results, GN hosts roadshows where the Executive Management and the investor relations team inform investors and financial analysts about the recent developments in the company.

Moreover, when relevant, GN maintains a good dialogue with proxy advisors and other external advisors ahead of the Annual General Meeting.

The Board of Directors is updated on an ongoing basis regarding the dialogue with GN's stakeholders in order to allow the Board to take any feedback into account in its work.

Please refer to www.gn.com/aboutIR for further information.

Internal control and financial reporting

The primary responsibility for GN's risk management and internal control systems, including compliance with applicable legislation and other financial reporting regulations, rests with the Board and the Executive Management. GN's risk management and internal control systems related to financial reporting, including IT and tax, are designed to ensure that the internal and the external financial reporting provide a true and fair view of the Group's financial position and results.

Control environment

Internal controls in GN consist of multiple gatekeepers, including organizational structure, decision-making procedures, operational procedures and segregation of powers and responsibilities, which are documented and communicated in governing documents such as internal policies, codes of conduct, manuals, etc. The Executive Management has established central compliance and control functions to monitor compliance with relevant legislation and other financial reporting requirements as well as supervising and verifying financial reporting from subsidiaries and associated companies.

GN has also issued ethical guidelines which applies to all its employees and has established a whistleblower hotline. Further information is given in the management's commentary in the 2023 Annual Report.

Further details about GN's whistleblower hotline are provided in the 2023 Annual Report and at www.gn.com/alertline

Risk assessment

At least once a year, the Audit Committee and the Executive Management make a group-wide assessment of risks related to the financial reporting process. The purpose of this risk assessment is to identify areas related to the financial reporting process with the greatest risk of a material misstatement.

The risk assessment is carried out as a top-down analysis, identifying material and high-risk areas from a Group perspective. Based on the result of the risk assessment, GN implements measures to manage and reduce risk in the relevant areas. The most significant risks related to the financial reporting are described in the 2023 Annual Report (in the management commentary under Risk management and in section 1 in the financial statements).

Control activities

Firstly, the control structures rely on an organization with clearly defined roles that support the segregation of responsibility that is deemed effective and appropriate from an internal control perspective.

Secondly, specific control activities are performed to identify and/or prevent the risk of errors in the financial reporting. The purpose of GN's control activities is to ensure compliance with the objectives, policies, manuals, procedures and other guidelines communicated by the Board and the Executive Management and the timely prevention, detection, and correction of any errors, discrepancies, or omissions.

Control activities comprise manual and physical controls, general IT controls, and automatic application controls in GN's IT systems. The Executive Management has established a formal Group reporting process which comprises monthly reporting on key figures, including reporting on budget variances and ongoing adjustment of full-year estimates. In addition to income statement, balance sheet and cash flow statement, the reporting comprises notes and other disclosures. Quarterly reviews are performed to identify the potential need for impairment of goodwill, development projects and deferred tax assets. The results of the reviews are reported to and discussed with the Audit Committee.

Controller visits are conducted on a regular basis, among other, to evaluate the internal control systems of GN's subsidiaries and to ensure that the subsidiaries comply with approved guidelines, principles and policies. The planned frequency of controller visits is presented to and approved by the Audit Committee, and the Audit Committee has approved the scope and reporting model for controller visits. In addition, thematic risk-based reviews are performed of various areas such

Access to further relevant documents

The Board of Directors and the Executive Management continuously strive to maintain a good corporate governance level in GN.

Further to this report, other relevant documents for understanding GN's corporate governance is compiled in a document download center on the company's website, which can be accessed via www.gn.com/documents

Among the documents you can review here are:

- Anti-corruption policy
- Articles of association
- Board evaluation
- Committee charters
- Diversity policy
- Ethics guide
- Gifts, travel and entertainment policy
- Internal privacy policy
- Modern slavery and human trafficking in the supply chain
- Non-retaliation policy
- Remuneration policy
- Remuneration report
- Responsibility policies (ESG, conflict minerals, quality)
- Statutory corporate governance reports
- Supplier code of conduct
- Sustainability/ESG reports
- Tax policy

as financial support arrangements, R&D, etc. The results of the controller visits are reported to the Executive Management, the independent auditors and the local management.

GN's risk management department discusses and evaluates current risks, identifies new risks and determines whether any actions should be taken to reduce the most material risks or potentially turn these into opportunities.

Once a year the risks assessed to be the most material, including the most significant strategic, business, accounting, and liquidity risks, are reviewed and discussed in the Audit Committee and the Board. The management's commentary in the Annual Report includes a section with information about risk management.

Information and communication

GN has established a procedure to ensure a uniform and structured approach to internal control in the Group to ensure that internal policies, codes of conducts and the like, which forms the foundation for the internal control environment, always are available on the Group's intranet.

The procedure ensures an ongoing dialogue with the subsidiaries regarding the requirements to and prioritization of internal controls. The principles for the company's presentation of its financial statements are described in a financial reporting manual that applies to all subsidiaries. The manual is available on the intranet. Financial reporting is done in a corporate reporting system that provides transparency for the parent company into each subsidiary. The financial reporting is supported by monthly management reporting from each subsidiary.

Monitoring

The processes for assessing risks and the execution of control activities are monitored on an ongoing basis. Monitoring involves both formal and informal procedures applied by management and process owners, review of results compared with budgets and plans, and key performance indicators.

The Executive Management monitors compliance with relevant legislation and other financial reporting requirements on an ongoing basis and reports to the Board and the Audit Committee. Further, the Executive Management has established procedures to ensure that the organization is informed in due time about new or amended accounting regulation relevant for GN.

At least once a year, the Board reviews the adequacy of the internal control systems. At the Board meeting where the Annual Report is reviewed, the Board discusses the internal control systems with the auditors elected by the shareholders at the Annual General Meeting. Based on the auditors' reporting in the long-form audit report, the Board and the auditors discuss the audit results, the material accounting policies applied, critical accounting estimates and the appropriateness of the accounting policies applied.
